

It was fun for the entire family as Meta Corp distributes the holiday hams

An annual holiday tradition eagerly anticipated by the Meta Corp employees is the party conducted at the Fiesta Garden in the Renaissance Marketplace, when they all receive their holiday hams. On Wednesday, December 6, well over 1000 employees with their families attended the gathering, taking home not only hams, but raffle prizes as well.

Meta Corp is the largest local employer on Aruba, with over 1300 employees, and they conduct many events for them over the holiday season, "but this one is the most fun for those with families" expressed Public Relations liaison Enrita Werleman. The formal party at the convention center is employees only, so this is a chance for them to celebrate the season with their colleagues and their families together.

Employees from the Renaissance Resorts, Eco-Tech waste removal, ATCO, which provides ready-mix cement and pavers, and the Balashi Brewery along with Tropical Bottling attended the party. Each division of Meta Corp had their own separate raffles with a multitude of prizes for the employees, running the gamut of holiday baskets laden with treats, to gift certificates at the various malls and restaurants.

Kids and parents alike were treated to refreshments, unlimited hotdogs with all the fixings, and dancing to live music. Not only do the active employees get a holiday ham, but also all the retirees of Meta Corp and the teenagers that they hire for the occasion to help distribute them. So many families in Aruba will have a lovely holiday dinner thanks to Meta!
